About IN-18

IN-18 LLC was founded to help people reach their greatest potential. Our focus is leadership development, strategic business consulting and project management. Through executive and leadership coaching, team-building events, and professional development training, we teach high achievers how to leverage soft-skills to advance their career. With over 20 years of experience in both investment and commercial banking, technology and manufacturing, we help executives in Fortune 500 companies, non-profit businesses and education systems build more diverse, equitable and inclusive work environments. IN-18 is a unique company designed to help employees, at all levels make the most of their skills for career growth and advancement. We also use golf to help clients grow and build authentic relationships.
